Eagle Scout Project Set for Arbor Day at Woodley Island

Contact: Adam Wagschal (707) 443-0801

At 4:00 PM, Friday, April 30, 2010, Cory Griffith and fellow scouts of Troop 54 will finish his Eagle Scout project to plant 25 Redwood trees in the Gerald O. Hansen Wildlife Area on Woodley Island. Cory has been working with the Humboldt Bay Harbor, Recreation and Conservation District to lay out the project and extend irrigation for the past few months. According to Cory, since April 30 is National Arbor Day, he thought it was the perfect day to actually plant the young trees and finish the project.

Arbor Day is a nationally-celebrated observance that encourages tree planting and care. Founded by J. Sterling Morton in 1872, it's celebrated on the last Friday in April.
